BUSINESSMAN HONORED FOR DEDICATION TO LOCAL COMMUNITY
Dan Duval Recognized for Work With Greater Newburyport Chamber of Commerce

(AMESBURY, Mass., June 23, 2010) – Dan Duval, CEO and Creative Director of McDougall & Duval Advertising, was recently honored for his six years of service as a Board member for the Greater Newburyport Chamber of Commerce. In addition to the recognition from the Chamber, Duval received official citations from the Massachusetts Senate and House of Representatives.

“Dan has been an invaluable member of the Chamber for years, and his service as a member of our Board has been exemplary,” said Ann Ormond, the Chamber’s President. “We felt it was a good time to recognize his personal contributions, as well as the efforts of his entire company, to help better our community.”

During his six year tenure on the Board, Duval worked on a number of committees, including three years on the Executive Committee and one year on the Marketing Committee. Volunteering the services of his award-winning advertising agency, he completed a vast number of pro-bono projects for the organization and multiple community projects.

“It’s a great source of pride for me to be a part of the Greater Newburyport Chamber of Commerce and contribute to the fantastic work they do on behalf of the region’s businesses and the community at large,” said Duval. “This organization does so much to benefit our area, I’ve been honored to partner with them and put the full range of our agency’s capabilities at their service.”

The awards were presented at the Newburyport Chamber of Commerce 44th Annual Meeting Luncheon, held at Blue Ocean Music Hall in Salisbury on May 12.
